Cary is a partner in the firm's Business Litigation practice group. A trial lawyer who primarily handles commercial disputes, his clients include national franchise companies, which he represents both regionally and nationally.

He also has litigated disputes between manufacturers and distributors throughout the country, with cases in New York, New Jersey, California, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Puerto Rico. Cary has considerable experience litigating employment disputes, including claims made under Title VII and the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, as well as claims of sexual harassment. His practice also includes disputes involving restrictive covenants ancillary to employment agreements and trade secret misappropriation actions. He has successfully litigated cases involving copyright infringement involving both computer software and musical recordings.

Cary works with CARE, the international relief organization, through the Atlanta Committee for CARE.

He is admitted to practice in Georgia.
